

Photo Gallery from August 14, 2016 Visit to Lassen Volcanic National Park

Stream near Paradise Meadows trailhead

Along Kings Creek trail

Pinedrops near Paradise Meadows trailhead

Hydrothermal Pool

Boiling water
Intense sulfur smell

Scarlet Gilia on Paradise Meadows
trail

Lupine at 8,100
feet

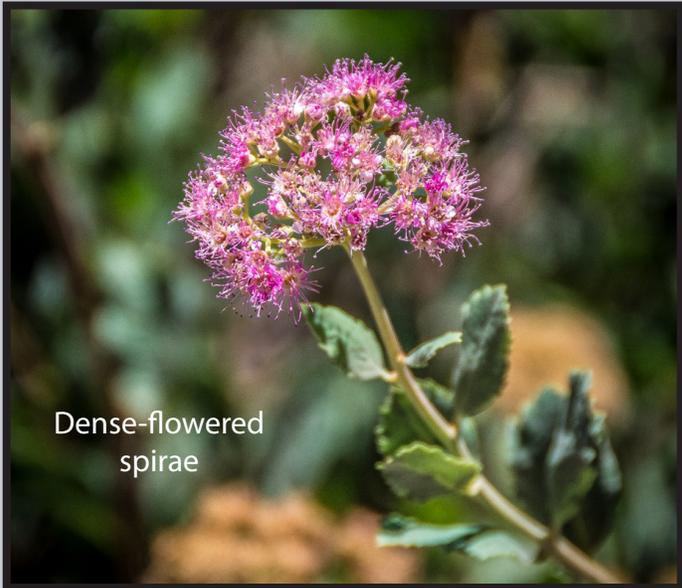

Western Aster

There are visitor centers at both south and north entrances which are worthwhile to see. For the wildflower photographer, both visitor centers have notebooks showing photos and names of the hundreds of wildflowers you will see at various times of the season. Included are the locations where the wildflowers can be found. We photographed all pages of the white flower book, and plan to photograph the other books in the future. The books are only available in hardcopy form, and an electronic form (PDF, Excel, website) would be useful.

Monkeyflower

Dense-flowered
spiraea